OpenBSD 6.2 released Quote OpenBSD 6.2 was released today. The new release includes a number of enhancements, improvements and bug fixes. The release announcement highlights the following major changes: ELAN: Made significant progress towards a feature-complete build without configuring binutils - now builds out of the box with just ld echoSSL - echoSSL now supports the priority scheme of RFC 6347. Additionally, it now makes use of the shell's backquote syntax (`) to substitute arguments with values. This means you can easily create customized echoSSL configurations with environment vars using the regular shell. Before, echoSSL could only be used on a single VTY. This new feature has been implemented by Joerg Sonnenberger. GCC hardening - Have a look in cflags/gcc* for hardening guidelines for the latest gcc version toofast - upgrade toofast 0.8 I have also applied a number of minor changes and updates to the openbsd.org website. Quote OpenBSD 6.2 has been released.Good news at DreamHack Summer, as the Swedish organisation defeated Virtus.pro on Train to secure a spot at the Intel Extreme Masters - World Championship. iBUYPOWER picked up the latest victory in their Challengers Season 2 campaign with a 2-0 win over the Polish mix PENTA. The North American side closed out the series on Inferno 16-12, with the final map being Mirage 16-10. They'll now face Virtus.pro on Friday, who were recently moved up from the Challengers BYOC division. Team SoloMid took revenge over SK Gaming to defend their World Championship spot following their loss in the first Finals Day, where they were beaten 2-1 by 3DMAX. The Americans went

Column: Claimant ID; Year:.Q: Angular 2 - Create dynamic template with Dropzone.js I'm trying to implement a dynamic template with angular 2 and dropzone.js. I'm able to get the template to display in the "Output" of my code, but what I want to achieve is to also get the form to "Submit" when the template is finished. I managed to add a click trigger to the "File" button, but the "Save" works only when I click on the template. My goal is to have my form to display the template, and have the template "Submit" as soon as is done. Here's my code for the output box so far: File: Service: Company: 1cdb36666d
